

Flux Expands manufacturing area and capacity.

Asnaes, Denmark August 2008

Flux is in a very positive development and is now in a process of expanding facilities at Industrivangen 5.

In order to be able to employ further operators and to have enough room for Space manufacturing and test facilities – an internal swoop will be implemented.

Flux - Emtech Engineering will move to newly established Pavilions – situated on the neighbour piece of land and connected to the main facilities.

All in our organisation are looking forward to finish this expansion – both due to impact on daily life for the moment – but also in order to step up the capacity level as soon as possible.

The new facilities will be ready for use end of October 2008, where training of new operators will start.
