

Flux awarded Significant Defence Contract

Asnaes, Denmark April 2006

Flux enters partnership with European leader in defence electronics for the manufacturing of complex transformerunit.

The transformerunit is a very complex challenge and an opportunity for Flux to demonstrate our capabilities within:

- High Voltage Transformers
- PCB Assembly
- Impregnation and Moulding techniques
- Integration
- Screening tests, including burn-in

The contract is in line with our strategy to become the preferred supplier of high-reliability magnetic components.

The frame contract that will run for several years enables us to establish dedicated department for defence electronics.

Flux facilities for burn-in and thermal shocks
